BRUCE SNOW PRIMARY EXAMINER

Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: The Examiner's rejection under 35 USC 112, first paragraph, is believed proper; applicant's original disclosure simple does not support this language which is broader than specification. Regarding the rejections in view of Siebels and Beer et al, the Examiner position is believed proper. Both references have ends having an outer curvature that corresponds to an inward curvature of the vertebrae. An inward curvature does not mean the ends of the vertebrae are concave. Note at least figure 2 of Beer et al which is kidney shaped.
